

WOMEN ORGANIZE COUNCIL HERE TO AID GIRL SCOUTS

Mrs. C. C. Gibson Is Chosen
To Serve Council As Commissioner.

REGIONAL DIRECTOR AIDS NEW MOVEMENT

Twenty Women Form Council
To Promote Interests
Of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. C. C. Gibson was unanimously elected to serve as commissioner of the Salem Girl Scout council which was organized Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting called by Miss Mary Holderman, local director of the Girl Scouts who have six troops in this city.

Mrs. Frank Harris was elected to serve as deputy commissioner and Mrs. R. E. Smucker was made secretary-treasurer. The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. Lee Chamberlain, Mrs. Frank Speidel and Mrs. Grant Woodruff. Miss Cora Nelson of New York, regional director, aided in framing a constitution.

The formation of the council is expected to do much to promote the interests of the Girl Scout movement in Salem where the men also have under consideration the organization of a local Boy Scout council under which the work of the eight local Boy Scout troops would be centralized.

Besides the officers the following women are members of the Salem Girl Scout council:

Mrs. Floyd W. McKee, Mrs. F. S. Eastman, Mrs. B. L. Fick, Mrs. Frank R. Speidel, Mrs. E. E. Enderlin, Mrs. L. R. Harris, Mrs. H. H. Sharp, Mrs. William Silver, Mrs. Lee Chamberlain, Miss Helen Smith, Mrs. I. D. Campbell, Mrs. Stanton Heck, Mrs. George Politz, Mrs. E. Greenberger, Mrs. W. H. Dunn, Miss Judith Brooks, Mrs. Stanton Heck, Mrs. R. R. Johnson and Mrs. Alonzo Farmer.

Mrs. Woodruff was named chairman of the camp committee and will announce the old members of the committee later. The remaining committees were selected in full as follows: Court of Awards, Mrs. Johnson, Miss Brooks and Mrs. Silver; Publicity, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Speidel and Mrs. Enderlin; Educational, Mrs. Heck, Mrs. Campbell and Miss Smith; Miss Nelson will remain in the city until Friday to assist Miss Holderman with the organization work and to inspect the local Girl Scout troops.

SENATORS EXCLUDED FROM LAW REQUIRING FILING OF EXPENSES

Washington, May 10.—Something akin to a political sensation was caused today when it became known that Attorney General, Harry M. Daugherty has handed out an opinion to the effect that under existing law the 35 candidates for election to the senate this year need not make any returns on their campaign expenditures, either for the primaries or for the regular elections in the fall.

The returns are required under the corrupt practices act of 1911, but the attorney general construed the Supreme court's decision in the Newberry case as invalidating that portion of the law affecting senators, because the method of their election has been changed since the passage of the act. They were formerly elected by state legislatures and now by direct vote of the people.

That there will be a speedy revision of the law to compel senatorial candidates to file returns, just as do members of the house, was generally predicted at the capitol today by "liberals" of both Democratic and Republican parties.

Mrs. Ruth, who was operated on at the same time, has also improved considerably and will be discharged from the hospital within a week. She thus will be able to witness the slugger's 1922 debut at the Polo grounds May 20.

War Is Declared On Lisbon Crows

Lisbon, May 10.—Game Warden W. H. Toor led a gang with shotguns against a crows' roost near town last night. The onslaught was made by moonlight and 17 crows were accounted for.

Hundreds of crows have been roosting in a woods on the James Freeman farm for weeks and during the day time the birds have been doing a lot of damage to birds' nests, young chickens, etc.

WOULD HONOR SOLDIER DEAD IN MORNING

Joint Committee Proposes To Have Memorial Day
Exercises Early.

Salem's Memorial day exercises and parade will be in the morning of Tuesday, May 30, instead of the afternoon as has been the usual custom, if the decision reached at a meeting of the joint committee of the patriotic organizations Tuesday evening works out.

The plan is to have the parade form at 9:30 and march promptly at 9:45 to Hope cemetery for the ceremonies there and following the return from the cemetery to have the service at the High school auditorium, at which Rev. H. H. Scott, pastor of the M. E. church, will give the address.

A request comes from the committee for flowers to decorate the graves. Those who donate them are requested to take the flowers to the hall Monday afternoon, May 29. The joint committee will meet again May 23.

Reports Sane Stable Trade Is Returning

Hoover Tells Manufacturers
Law Must Come To Aid
Of Industry.

New York, May 10.—A nationwide survey of American conditions shows that trade and business have "turned the corner," and have left depression far behind, it was announced by John Egerton, of Nashville, Tenn., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, at the association convention here.

The advance, Mr. Egerton said, is stable, sane and definite. Business is on the upgrade, he continued, in all the basic industries.

This survey was carried on by means of 30,000 questionnaires sent out to business men all over the United States.

"There is a general tenor of bright prospects for the future," declared Mr. Egerton. "In all the replies there was a lack of pessimism."

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover presided at the morning session in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel and delivered an address on "The reestablishing of confidence in legitimate trade associations."

Mr. Hoover spoke of the need of constructive efforts to build up the progress and prosperity of the people and the nation. The time has come, he said, for the law to come to the assistance of industry to end the uncertainty over the length to which industrial enterprises might go in the way of expansion. This does not imply, he added, any alteration of the purposes of the restraint of trade acts.

Mr. Hoover said it was his belief that, if industries were to grow there should be something definite and concrete in the law to relieve them from any uncertainty over their situation. He suggested that there should be an addition to the Clayton act covering the expansion of interstate trade associations.

V.F.W. WILL ORGANIZE AUXILIARY OF WOMEN

A woman's auxiliary to Allen Reynolds post No. 892, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be organized Friday night and next week Mrs. J. Emmerring of East Liverpool, past commander of the auxiliary there, will install the officers.

The annual Poppy day to be observed in Salem Saturday, May 27, is in charge of the auxiliary of the American Legion, the observance having been started by the Legion following the war. The funds thus raised will be used to care for wounded soldiers in government hospitals in this country.

ADVISES HUMANS TO USE JUDGMENT CHICKENS SHOW

Washington, May 10.—Human beings have as much sense as chickens.

So believes George M. Graham, who, at a dinner here of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, voiced the opinion that "if it is possible to educate chickens to caution it ought to be possible to educate human beings."

"I notice the chicken is becoming very cautious," said Graham. "She is learning something and I say 'she' advisedly, for I notice that the chicken that gets run over is always a hen."

"The rooster," continued Graham, impelled perhaps by a sense of loyalty to the male species, "stands in a dignified state on the side of the road and grins tolerantly while the flurried hen tries to cross back and forth in front of the car five times."

"But some impulse of precaution," Graham declared, "born of maternal admonition comes to the mind of the hen today and says: 'It is wisdom to stay on this side and let it go by.'"

"Now," he asked, "if hens with their limited modicum of brains can be trained that far in safety, why not also children? It is simply a case of carrying the message to them."

Two Women Shot By Jilted Lover

Pittsburg, May 10.—Jilted after a three-years' courtship, George West, 26, early today shot his sweetheart, Miss Elvira Schuman, 22, and her companion, Mrs. Muriel Miller, 35, and then fired a bullet into his own head.

The two women were on their way to work on a North Side street when they encountered West. The three were rushed to the Presbyterian hospital, where it was announced West and Miss Schuman were in a dying condition and the injury of Mrs. Miller was most serious.

Two Buildings Bombed, Police Officers Shot

Chicago Is Armed Camp As Result Of Outbreak Of Labor War.

Chicago, May 10.—Chicago today was an armed camp as every available policeman rounded up suspect in the slaying of two policemen, wounding of another and the bombing of two plants during the night.

Lieut. Torrance Lyons and Patrolman Thomas Clarke were the policemen killed.

John Rafferty, 38, close friend of "Big Tim" Murphy labor leader under sentence to prison for mail robbery in jail partly identified as one of the occupants of the dilapidated automobile used by one of the murderers. Six others were caught by police early today.

The shooting came when a scouting squad of police attempted to stop the "murder car" following reports of a printing house bombing.

More than 100 printers were in the building at the time. The command to halt was answered by a volley of shots and the death car sped away. Chief of Detectives Hughes plans to take every labor official in Chicago who may have knowledge of the murderers into custody for interrogation.

Police believe the bomb which rocked the printing plant was intended for a building being constructed across the street under the terms of the Landis' building trades' wage decision.

The other building bombed was a garage where non-union glaziers have been unemployed.

Musical numbers were furnished by Miss Virginia Wilson on the cello accompanied by Mrs. E. M. Wilson, Mrs. Nelson Baumann, Mrs. E. G. Behler and Mrs. H. H. Wilkinson contributed vocal selections.

OPPOSES WHOLESALE REMOVAL OF APPENDIX

Columbus, May 10.—Asserting that the present status of medicine is trying and uncertain, Brigadier General C. E. Sawyer, personal physician to President Harding, addressing delegates here attending the annual convention of the Homeopathic Medical Society of Ohio, opposed the "wholesale removal of appendix, tonsils, adenoids and God knows what."

"We have gotten so ethical that we have lost one of the outstanding figures in medicine—the general practitioner," continued Dr. Sawyer. "Let us tell the public just what homeopathy is. Let us prove that we are doctors of medicine and that medicine really is worth while."

MAID DISCOVERS BODIES OF WOMAN AND 3 DAUGHTERS

Wife Of Philadelphia Man
Turns On Gas In Their Bedroom.

FOUR DEAD SEVERAL HOURS WHEN FOUND

Husband Collapses When He Reaches "House Of The Dead."

Atlantic City, N. J., May 10.—Mrs. Edith Miller Buzby, wife of William S. Buzby, vice president of the Keystone Lubricating company, Philadelphia, and her three daughters today were found dead from carbonating gas in Mrs. Buzby's home at Ventnor, near here.

The police say that notes found in the house indicate that Mrs. Buzby had planned the death of herself and daughters. She is said to have been separated from her husband three years.

The daughters were: Constance, aged 11; Edwinnia, 9, and Mary, 6. Charlotte Bennett, a maid, discovered the bodies shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, when the odor of gas aroused her suspicion that something was wrong.

When she opened the door to Mrs. Buzby's room she found Mrs. Buzby lying across the foot of the bed, almost completely covering the body of little Mary and in such a position to smother the latter even if the gas had not been turned on.

All four were in their night clothes. They had evidently been dead for several hours.

All windows were closed and all chandeliers and the gas meter turned on full blast.

Buzby was summoned from his Philadelphia home, collapsed when he reached the "house of the dead" and was placed under a physician's care.

He claimed that his wife had been erratic for some time and said that they had agreed to separate establishments, "in order to make things easier for her."

It was reported that others not authorized by the mayor were engaged in the work and the mayor advises residents to inquire about the cost of hauling when the men appear and if overcharges are made, to report to police headquarters and prosecutions will follow.

Despite the rain work was started Wednesday in the Third ward in an effort to cleanup the city by the end of the week.

Mayor Post announced Wednesday that rubbish would be taken from the Second ward Thursday.

City Hospital To Have Open House Friday

Demonstrations Arranged
When Public Visits
Institution.

Open house will be held at Salem City hospital from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. Friday in observance of National Hospital day.

Invitations have been posted to the long list of donors to the building and equipment fund of this hospital. Some may have been missed because they contributed with their shop or club as a unit, without individual names, but the invitation is to every resident of Salem and vicinity.

Four thousand hospitals in the United States and Canada will participate in National Hospital day, largely for the purpose of acquainting the people with the close relation between themselves and their hospitals. The citizens maintain the hospitals and the hospitals in turn provide the skilled care which saves the life and health of the citizens.

That all may see how it is done at Salem City hospital, the trustees and superintendent are inviting everybody to a peep into the daily life of the institution.

There will be interesting demonstrations in the X-ray room, laboratory, etc. From 2 to 4 p. m. the training school will put on an exhibition of modern nursing methods.

The public is also invited to visit the nurses' home across the street from the hospital. At present there are 12 young women in training for graduate nurses.

The Salem City hospital was opened to the public in September, 1913, more than 4,000 persons having donated subscriptions to the building fund. Since that time 8,297 patients have been treated at this institution.

SALEM MERCHANTS PLAN HOMECOMING FESTIVAL IN FALL

Annual Celebration To Be On Larger Scale Than In Former Years.

MANY CIVIC NEEDS
UNDER DISCUSSION

Merchants Will Back Band
Concerts; May Arrange
Parking Places.

Salem merchants will conduct a Homecoming celebration next autumn, possibly early in October. It will assume greater proportions than similar events of past years and the attractions will be of credit to the community so much so that they will herald Salem's enterprise.

The plans, set on foot early enough to give ample time for thoughtful consideration, were fostered at a meeting of the Real Estate Merchants following a dinner served at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. An excellent menu was served and the meeting, presided over by Chairman Joseph Schwartz, followed.

A committee composed of E. V. Burt, F. J. Eckstein, R. S. McCulloch, R. B. Thompson and George J. Bonn was appointed to set the dates for the Homecoming, with power to appoint committees to arrange the various details.

George W. Chappel and John W. Hundermark, representing Quaker City band, appeared before the meeting to learn whether the merchants expected to support free open air band concerts again this summer. Last year the band was donated $550 for 11 concerts given each Monday night at Centennial park. The band members were given assurance of support this summer and a committee was appointed to solicit funds. The band expects to give its first concert early in June.

Discuss Parking Places

The merchants determined to close their stores Wednesday afternoon during June, July, August and September, as has been their custom. They discussed civic problems from various angles, all with the idea of lending all support possible to improvements which the city cannot undertake because of lack of finances.

Much time was given to a discussion of the need of public parking places for autos. It was suggested that merchants find other parking spaces for their own machines in order to give all available parking spaces on the business streets to shoppers and other visitors in the city. In addition it was proposed to provide parking spaces for the public and several lots adjacent to the business district were pointed out. A committee will investigate further and report at the next meeting.

As there are no funds in the city service department for street cleaning, the merchants propose to contribute the money for this work, as they did last year. The need of cleaning and replacing broken street lights was considered and this also will be brought to the attention of every merchant in the city.

Much time was devoted to a general discussion of advertising, such as trade extension programs which would advertise the city as a trading center and tend to bring more people into Salem. A committee was chosen to work out some plan of action.

MRS. RIDDLE SEEKS TO APPEAL DIVORCE CASE

Mrs. Anna Riddle, of Lisbon, who a few weeks ago was divorced by Judge Lodge Riddle, has filed a bill of exceptions in the clerk's office, asking to take the case up to the court of appeals in an effort to have the divorce set aside as against the weight of the evidence.

The question as to whether a divorce case can be carried to a higher court on the question of the weight of evidence is one that is now pending in the supreme court of Ohio, having been raised in the famous Wells divorce case of Youngstown.

Statistics Of Accidents

THE records of an accident insurance company, recently published, reveal that it paid in one year more than 1,129,000 claims for injuries due to falls on pavements. It cost this company in the same year $623,935 to indemnify persons who fell down stairs, while $429,212 went to those who fell from ladders and chairs. In the same period 1,109 persons fell through trap doors at a cost to the company exceeding $100,000. Then there is an unclassified list under the general head of miscellaneous falls. To settle these cases cost the company $560,000.

If one insurance company in one year thus paid $2,842,147 to persons who incurred injuries from falls of one kind and another, what were the combined payments of all such companies? This and the further question of how many non-insured persons were more or less injured by falls remain in the field of speculation. Massed presentation of the figures involved is lacking. None of the less insurance companies offer certain surprising generalizations, presumably deduced from data of record. As statistics they are distinctly depressing.

In an address recently delivered before the Accident and Health society of New York an authority on accident insurance told his hearers that some person is accidentally hurt every three seconds. This would be at the rate of 20 a minute, 100 every five minutes, 1,200 every hour, or 28,800 a day. A sizable chapter of accidents for just every day, routine times of peace. It foots up to something over 8,500,000 in the course of a year.

Going into specifications of the average routine afflictions that befall humanity, the speaker asserted that 313 persons are accidentally injured to every fire that occurs; that one out of every ten deaths is due to accidental injuries; that 30,000,000 persons in the United States are disabled by sickness or accident every year; that there is enough illness annually in the country to give every individual about nine days of it. The insurance sharp says 3,000,000 people in the United States are seriously ill all the time.

It is a depressing exhibit. It makes one wonder that there are so many of us alive and that so many of the survivors are able to be up and around.

Where Reputation Failed
HISTORY and tradition prove that somebody gets the "bad man" sooner or later and that he dies as he usually says that he hopes he will, "with his boots on." If this were not true fewer United States deputy marshals and other peace officers would have lived to an old age, and the stories of the Wild West of half a century ago would have had different endings.

One of the chief reasons assigned for the mortality of the bad men is that they had too many enemies to stand a chance of living. This in a measure was a fact, but it was not all. Take the case of Bud Ballew, who met his death last week at Wichita Falls, Texas. Bud had eight notches on his gun. He had a reputation as a deputy sheriff who never missed and as a handler of six shooters who could pull quicker and shoot straighter than any other man in his county.

Yet when Bud started out to give Wichita Falls a touch of the old days he was stopped by a Chief of Police J. W. McCormick, a mere novice, a person without a reputation as a bad man and with not a single killing notched on his firearms. Ballew died because, as the news dispatch stated, "his old style, single action .45 was only half drawn from its holster when his body fell with five steel jacketed bullets fired from a new model weapon." The chief of police shot from the hip with an automatic. It was the old story. Reputation did not amount to shucks against a newer and a quicker action pistol.

Whether you are a bad man or

SHORTAGE IN PANTS SUPPLY

Evidently Planners' Wardrobes Were, at Least to a Certain Extent, Unpleasantly Limited.

In the early days of central Illinois a period when the settlers drove their hog to market at Chicago, breaking a path in winter by means of a yoke of oxen and a heavy log, a certain young man was in the habit of walking eight miles to see his best girl. On the occasion of one visit a heavy snowstorm swept the prairie, and the young man found it necessary to remain until morning. He slept in an "outside" room, the space between the logs being unfilled. The old-fashioned feather bed with wool blankets protected him from the zero weather.

It so happened that the young man wore the style at that date, buckskin pants. Thoughtlessly on retiring he laid his pants on top of the bedclothes. A coyote or wolf crawled through the cracks between the logs in the night and carried his pants away. The theft was revealed when the young man was called for breakfast, and to cap the climax, not an extra pair of pants was to be had. The young man was forced to stay in bed and send a boy eight miles to his home for pants. There was only one pair in his family, those worn by his father. Thus the father had to go to bed and send the boy these pants in order that the latter could get back home.—Indianapolis News.

MANY LEGENDS OF THE OAK

Tree's Grandeur and Beauty Seem to Have Impressed Each Ancient Race in Turn.

The ancient races, struck with the noble aspect of the oak, have in all ages enveloped it in the clouds of their legends and carried it back to the remotest antiquity. Of this class was the holm oak, which in the days of Pliny still existed near Rome, on the trunk of which was an Etruscan inscription in letters of brass stating that before the existence of the Eternal city it was already the object of popular veneration. The Roman naturalist also asserts that in the environs of Hercules, in the kingdom of Pontus, there was a tradition that two oaks which overshadowed the altar of Jupiter Stragius had been planted by Hercules. The origin of certain trees is lost in even remote antiquity.

The imposing terror of the Hercynian forest has deeply impressed all those who have described Germany, and Pliny and Tacitus especially. The aged oaks of its somber vales, where wandered the elk and the antelope, especially aroused the admiration of the Roman historian. "The majestic grandeur of the oak in this forest," he says, "surpasses all imaginable belief; this tree has never been touched with the ax; it is contemporary with the creation of the world and appears to be the symbol of immortality."

RHEUMATISM IS GONE AND AKRON MAN FEELS FINE

Pitkins Wants Others To Know How Taniae Brought Complete Relief When Whole System Was Affected, He Declares.

"Just thirty days' use of Taniae convinced me of its unusual merit," said T. B. Pitkin, accountant for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., who lives at 287 Wheeler st., Akron, Ohio. "I suffered with muscular rheumatism in my legs for a year, lost my appetite, and my whole system became affected. Indigestion and the pain in my legs kept me in misery and I know I couldn't bear up much longer."

"I noticed the statement of Mr. Wethath of the Goodrich company about how Taniae helped him, so I had a talk with him then started taking the medicine too. Well, my rheumatism is gone and I feel as strong as I ever did. My appetite is good, I can eat anything and have gained several pounds. I want others who suffer to know what a great medicine Taniae is."

Taniae is sold by all good drug stores.

Do your feet give out in the afternoon?

PROBABLY there is nothing the matter with your feet, but soon after you put on your shoes, they begin to tire. Why? Nature planned the foot to have three points of contact with the ground—heel, ball and outside arch. But in raising the heel from the ground, the arch is left without a firm support. Your weight bearing down on the unsupported arch strains it.

The Arch Preserver Shoe raises the heel and arch from the ground, thus giving the foot the stylish appearance you desire; but unlike shoes with bending arches, it has a concealed built-in arch-bridge that supports the arch. Though shod in the latest fashion, your feet are free from strain all through the longest, hardest day when you wear Arch Preserver Shoes.

Nature plans that the foot rest on heel, ball and outside arch.
Civilization demands that heel and arch be raised.
The Arch Preserver shoe satisfies both Nature and Civilization.

OUR INTEREST IN EUROPE'S AFFAIRS

TREND OF EVENTS MAY FORCE UNITED STATES TO SHARE IN WORLD POLITICS.

MORE CONFERENCES TO COME

How Washington Officials View the Russo-German Treaty—Some Fear It Will Result in an Oppressive Alliance.

Washington.—No matter how Americans feel on the subject, there seems to be an impression in official circles in Washington that this country later will be compelled to enter in a way into world politics, or at least into European politics. This, of course, is desirable or undesirable according to the viewpoint, but the feeling here seems to be that events will force the United States to take a position on some of the matters now affecting the European countries.

There was a feeling, and it was voiced in the senate, that President Harding was leading America into the intricacies of world politics when he planned to put through, with the aid of the secretary of state, the partial disarmament treaties and other pacts which looked to the stabilizing of affairs in the Far East. The President's predecessor in office also is charged more directly with attempting to do the same thing. There does not seem to be much politics in the viewpoints.

It is said in Washington today frequently that the safeguarding of the interests of the United States may compel in the future, and perhaps not distant future, an American participation in conferences yet to be called, for there seems to be a belief that the Geneva conference may be succeeded by others.

Politicians of both parties here say that the action of the house in overturning the majority party's report in favor of a small navy strengthened the position of the President as his party's leader. The ratification by the senate of the treaties resulting from the recent international conference further it is said, added to the strength of the President's position as party leader. All is not well yet between him and the majority in congress, but it seems to be generally believed that his complete leadership will be acknowledged by the party men in the coming congressional campaign.

Views of Russo-German Treaty.

It is now some days since the Russians and Germans, to the amazement and indignation of representatives of other nations, entered into their pact at Geneva. So far as one can tell from outward appearances in Washington, the government officials look on this Russo-German pact as being an economic procedure solely and as such, perhaps one that should concern only the Russians and the Germans, but, as has been said, this is the outward appearance only.

Washington officials are keeping their real thoughts on this subject pretty much to themselves, but it can be said, in view of the manifestations of Russian and some other activities in the United States, that there is some fear in the capital that ultimately the Russians and the Germans, people representing two extremely powerful nations, notwithstanding the effects of the great war, may agree to act together in other than merely economic matters.

This admittedly is taking a long shot at the future and nothing ever may happen to justify some of the present-day fears, but, nevertheless, it is recognized in some quarters in the capital that in a measure justification is found in the recent action of the Germans and Russians for the suspicion of France that danger lay in the future, and for the insistence of that country on its right to maintain an adequate army.

We May Be Forced In.

The American administration is not in a position to say much, if anything, on this Geneva matter, but the feeling is here that if things reach a certain end it may be necessary for the President to call the attention of the country to certain possibilities in the European situation.

There has been an attempt to make it appear that the United States has no sharp interest in so-called European politics, but the more statesmanlike senators and representatives have realized that things may happen in Europe in an economic way which shall compel the United States to do something more than continue as a placid onlooker.

A good deal of money is owed to the United States by foreign governments. This money unquestionably eventually will be paid, but in order that it shall be paid it seems to be necessary that reparations shall be collected by the countries which owe the money, and as reparations must come from Germany the economic interest of this country in what Germany is to do naturally can be reckoned for, even if Uncle Sam does not care as yet to discuss anything concerning European financial arrangements which came out of the Versailles treaty.

Wholesome Was Funny Word.

Uncle—Isn't "wholesome" a funny word, father?
Father—What's funny about it?
Uncle—Why, you take away the whole of it, and you have some left.

SCHOOL DAYS

REGULAR PERIODS OF FAMINE

Every Seven Years Starvation Threatens Indians and Eskimos in the Canadian North.

Every seven years starvation stalks in the Northland. The snowshoe rabbits die. And just as surely as they die, so do the Eskimo and the Indian of northern Canada.

It was in one of these fatal years that Alanson Skinner, curator of the Milwaukee museum, entered the Hudson Bay country on an exploration trip for the American Museum of Natural History, the Milwaukee Journal reports.

Arriving at Moose Factory, he was surprised at the stories he heard. Every hunter and every trapper from the wilds brought them back.

The natives were dying by hundreds, literally starving to death. It was a case of the survival of the fittest. Should a man turn his back upon even his best friend for a moment, he was apt to be killed. Cannibalism was rife.

Skinner saw many gruesome sights as he pushed on from Moose Factory to Rupert's, the last outpost. At one time he sat down to eat beside a French trapper who arrived at Rupert's. He noticed that the man watched him with a strange light in his eyes. He left the table, but on looking back, found the man's eyes were still fastened upon him.

"What ails that fellow?" he inquired of an Indian.

"He eat human flesh once of cousin Frenchman and Indian guide," the native explained. "Now he crazy. Must have more all time."

Skinner was mighty glad that he had not encountered the crazed Frenchman alone on the trail, he said.

JAP GIRLS EAGER TO LEARN

Devote Little Time to the Pleasures So Dear to Hearts of Their American Sisters.

Never a dance do the Japanese girls shun. Never a class do they "cut" to get a hot fudge. "Dates" are as scarce with them as galoshes on a summer day.

All of which was deduced from a talk with Miss Elizabeth Hilsley, Evanston, Ill., recently head of the music department at Kobe college, Japan.

"Japanese girls are much better students than American girls," Miss Hilsley said. "No discipline is needed; they are so eager to learn. They don't have much fun, though, except among themselves."

Unless a girl is converted to Christianity, she said, a college education does not interfere with her marriage, because it is already arranged by her parents.

"Japanese girls are quiet. Most of them have an earnest ambition to come to the United States and study. They don't want to stay, only to learn what they can and return to help their own women."

Although Miss Hilsley would not say that Japanese women are gossips, she admitted that they serve tea from morning until night to any callers that drop in. And what is tea without gossip?—Milwaukee Journal.

Uncle Sam's Auction Room.

The United States has become the world's auction room. Hardly a day passes that does not see art treasures of the old world sold on the block to be carried to homes throughout the United States. A great auction was recently held in New York which included the household furniture and art objects from some of the oldest homes in Great Britain. A brawny young man of Canada dressed in rough tweeds was present at this sale and when an English refectory table was offered for sale he put in the first bid. Other bidders appeared, but they did not have a chance. The Canadian got it for five hundred dollars.

He approached the table and said: "I am the youngest son of the family selling this table. I sat at it many times as a youth and it is going back to Canada with me."—Wall Street Journal.

Tip and Be Happy

Katherine Wood believes in tipping judiciously as a step along the path of least resistance. In the Designer she writes:

"You like to travel, or else you dislike to travel. Putting out of the question love of excitement, the adventurous spirit, the zest for new scenes, all of which enter in, the reason for your taste or distaste may really lie in your attitude toward some of what you may have called inconsequential details.

"Do you know how to relinquish your heavy suitcase, your hat box, your coat and umbrella and that bulky bundle to a red-cap? Whether you have a chair or not, the porter will take you the shortest and easiest way to your train, and you'll avoid all that craning and straining to see where your train starts. He'll find you a seat in a day coach and dispose of your parcels for you, so that you neither have to wrench your arm out or rely on the civility of a chance fellow passenger. Yes, he expects a tip, but a quarter is little enough to pay for having the brambles pulled out of your path."

Ship Has 18,000 Spoons

We may be cutting down our warships. There is no reduction in our liners. This applies to size as well as to number.

Take the White Star liner, Majestic. The largest steamer in the world is aptly named! Its tonnage is 56,000 and it is to carry 14,000 knives, 10,000 forks, 18,000 spoons, 45,000 pieces of plate in all, 178,000 pieces of linen and 270,000 pieces of crystal and glassware.

When one adds its cargo, crew and passengers, one's brain almost staggers at the responsibility which will rest on the shoulders of the captain.

Shoved Off

The Chasseurs Alpins, those dapper French fighting men who helped train the marines who first went to France, could never quite get accustomed to some of the marine corps lingo. One of the Blue Devils had learned the meaning of the sea-going phrase "shove off," but when he had his first chance to use it he was—as the saying is—not there.

"Hey, French," said a Leatherneck, "have you seen our lieutenant around?"

"Out, monsieur, out," said the poilu, struggling to remember the elusive phrase, "he have—what you call—pushed over."—The Leatherneck.

Roman Relics in London

An old Roman building dating back to the Third or Fourth century was uncovered by workmen in Grace Church street, London, while laying postal cables. One wall four and a half feet thick and extending downward 13 feet appears to form part of an inner chamber of a Roman building. The outline of the chamber is apparent and there are painted ornamentations on the walls. Museum officials believe that the walls belong to the original forum of Roman London.

Mardi Gras at New Orleans

The New Orleans observance of the Mardi Gras has been growing steadily since its establishment in 1830, and is now numbered among the most brilliant of the public and social festivities of the United States. His Majesty Rex, the king of the carnival, first rode at the head of a body of Arabic troops in honor of the Russian Grand Duke Alexis in 1872. The experiment was a success, and Rex became an established favorite. The "Mystic Crews of Comus," however, antedates this portion of the carnival by some 15 years, for it was in 1857 that the first "Mystic Crews" appeared in a fantastic night parade of gorgeous floats, manned by masked revellers. But so many additions have been made to the Mardi Gras that now Rex and Comus are only two features of a magnificent celebration which embraces the entire city.

WAR ON COYOTES IS BEING PRESSED

BIOLOGICAL SURVEY'S AGENTS
ARE TRYING TO KILL OFF
THOSE WESTERN PESTS.

WOLF PROBLEM IS SERIOUS

Present Conditions Recall W. Vernon Bailey's Pamphlet and President Roosevelt's Futile Effort to Arouse Interest of Secretary Taft.

Washington.—In certain localities in the West and Northwest agents of the biological survey of the Department of Agriculture are trying to kill off the coyotes, those little brothers to the wolves, which in places are destroying live stock and which, worse yet, are said to be spreading a sort of a "mad dog" epidemic through the coyote packs and thus contributing an additional danger to the general situation.

On several occasions attention has been called to the work of the biological survey and to the little attention which congress pays to it, although upon the labors of this bureau of the government depend the checking of the pests, big and little, which cause enormous losses to the farmers of the country every year.

So long ago as 1908 the newspapers of the country called attention to the fact that more wolves and coyotes had been killed in the West within the year than had just gone than in other like periods of the past. The wolf problem has vexed the stock raiser for years, and it may be said that its solution in part has been due to the work of the biological survey. Once congress actually attempted to wipe the survey out of existence.

At the beginning of the attempts of some of the senators and representatives years ago to prevent the government from settling aside any more forest preserves one of the arguments used was that the government forests were the breeding places of large numbers of wolves, who from their forested recesses forayed on the stock.

Mr. Bailey's Wolf Pamphlet.

W. Vernon Bailey, one of the government's biological experts, made a thorough investigation and found out that the wolves did not make their dens in the forests, but that they raised their young in the shelter of rocky caves in the open country. He suggested the searching out of the dens and the killing of the young wolves. He told definitely the sections of the country in which the dens were to be found, and as a result of his report thousands of the young wolves and coyotes were killed and presumably hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of stock was saved from destruction.

It was Mr. Bailey's wolf pamphlet that gave rise to a somewhat humorous happening during the Roosevelt administration. The President took a deep interest in the matter, as he did in everything which pertained to animal life. When the colonel was pleased with a particular bit of writing it was his habit to send it to some friend to read, and he did not always give thought as to whether or not the subject matter would be of any interest to the person to whom he sent it.

President Roosevelt sent Secretary of War Taft a copy of Mr. Bailey's wolf pamphlet with, as Mr. Taft once expressed it, "orders" to read. The President and the secretary in those days agreed on a good many things, but the cabinet official had not that deep and abiding interest in wolves, cougars, birds, centipedes and angle worms that lodged in the breast and head of the President of the United States.

It was reported at the time that the secretary of war sat up until two o'clock in the morning to finish Bailey's pamphlet on wolves, and that then he went to the President and served notice on him that if he had any thought that he could make a naturalist out of his secretary of war he must have another thought coming quickly. Mr. Taft said, "I want to tell you, Mr. President, that I don't care a rap whether the father wolves share the work of the mother wolves in providing food for the young or not," and then the secretary of war disappeared.

Found New Species of Coyote.

It was along about the time of the Bailey-Roosevelt-Taft wolf incident that the zoologists of the country proved that there lives in the West a coyote which is a sort of a link between the general tribe of coyotes and the greater wolf, known as the plains wolf. John Woodhouse, who was a grandson of John James Audubon, shot a couple of coyotes in the Far West a great many years ago. He sent them to the eastern scientists. They were immature animals, and it was difficult to fix positively their identity, but it was concluded that they were differentiated from the ordinary coyotes and from the larger plains wolf.

Theodore Roosevelt went on a special hunting trip to the section of the country where Woodhouse half a century before had secured his coyote specimens. Roosevelt shot some adult coyotes, sent them to the scientists, and it was found that they were differentiated from other species. Thus the claim of John Woodhouse that he had found a new species was sustained.

Possibly the day will come when man, instead of trying to kill coyotes, will try to protect them. This day, of course, will come only when the animals are reduced in numbers below the point of danger to the stock-raising interests.

INTERESTS YOUNG IN NATURE STUDY

GOVERNMENT SEEKS TO AROUSE BOYS AND GIRLS TO LOVE FOR LIFE OF FIELDS.

ENTHUSIASM OF ROOSEVELT

Colonel Believed in More Attention to Smaller Birds and Mammals—Incident of His Early Days as a Collector.

Washington.—The United States government, through a bureau of its Agricultural department, does what it can to interest actively the people of the United States in the study of nature and its ways. If one may so put it, it is wise in cases like this "to catch them young" for if a boy or a girl once becomes interested in the field life and all that it holds, the interest is certain to stay through the years.

Certainly a dozen times in the days that are gone I talked with Theodore Roosevelt about this specific matter. He was a devoted student of nature and, however men may have differed from him politically or in his economic policies, they agreed that his love of the outdoor life and the work that he did for the preservation of useful animals and birds were commanding and commendable.

Today in Washington the attempt is being made, as has been said, to stimulate interest all over the United States in nature and her ways. The boy who takes to the fields, intent on making a study of the moods and methods of the great mother, finds a vocation or at least an avocation, that holds his heart. He may become an engineer, a lawyer, a doctor or a newspaper man, and take full pride and deep interest, holding interest, in his profession, business or trade, but nature study always will be his recourse for recreation and the love for it perhaps will be above the love for that which brings him his actual livelihood.

Roosevelt the Nature Lover.

There was an enthusiasm with which Theodore Roosevelt talked of flowers, and birds and bees and trees that a man could not counterfeit if he tried a thousand years. If it were possible for the marks of sincerity to be hidden, the way in which Theodore Roosevelt would get back at the first opportunity to a nature topic, when the conversation had drifted in another direction, was proof enough of the love which he had for the ways of the wild. He was not a mere hunter, nor a mere field trapper. He was very much of a naturalist.

One night 15 years ago Colonel Roosevelt, who then was in the White House, told me it was a matter of surprise to him that so many who lived throughout the entire year in the places where animal life abounds paid so little attention to the smaller birds and mammals. "They know," he said, "about the big birds and the great game, but many of them know little and apparently care little for the smaller creatures whose life histories should hold just as much interest for the field student who has a heart for his work as do the creatures whose size if nothing else, brings them chief notice from the majority of men."

It was in this connection that President Roosevelt gave me a list of the birds that he had seen in Washington since he had entered the White House. It is a long list, and I have it yet, and the names of some of the birds on it would be unfamiliar to nine out of ten men who have not made bird life at least something of a study. Roosevelt found time to make many "nature love" trips in and about Washington, despite the pressure of his official duties. He had learned to love such things when he was a boy, and it is the endeavor to cultivate a like feeling in boys and girls today that Uncle Sam thinks worthy of at least part of the attention of one of his bureaus of government.

He found the Smaller Birds.

In the early days backwoodsmen and planters for the greater part, as has been said, paid little attention to the smaller birds and mammals which live in the woods. In further comment on this subject President Roosevelt had me one day that when he was a boy he went into the north woods of New York the Adirondack region.

with a guide who told him that there were no small birds in the wilderness. At that time the boy Roosevelt was in the first flush of his ornithological studies. He told the guide that he believed that before they came out of the woods he could show him 25 species.

"The guide laughed at me," said President Roosevelt, "but I kept my word."

Those early days were collecting days for the young naturalist and the 25 species which he found and named to the guide are now a part, I think, of a collection which 45 years ago Theodore Roosevelt gave to the Smithsonian institution, and which is still to be found in the government collections with the name of Roosevelt on the labels attached to the specimens.

The woodmen know the eagles, the hawks, the owls, the ruffed grouse, the loons and the ducks which come in summer to the small lakes lying in the heart of the wilderness, but many of them do not know, and apparently do not even suspect, the presence of the smaller unobtrusive species which hide away in the silent places.

Four varieties of tomatoes have been developed which will produce heavy crops of excellent fruit on land so badly infested by wilt that ordinary tomatoes can not be grown upon it.

Good Whistler Story.

"One of Whistler's stories was of Burne-Jones and himself going to a country fair and wandering into a sideshow to see a tattooed lady—and he was afraid to say how many subjects were tattooed on her—on one knee the American Eagle, on the other, the Union Jack, and on her back Leonardo's Last Supper. And she really was amazing, and they enjoyed it hugely. Some four or five years afterward, in London, Burne-Jones burst in upon Whistler, and told him the same tattooed lady was at the Aquarium, and they must go and see her again. And they went and she had grown very stout in the meanwhile and when they looked at the Last Supper, all the apostles wore a broad grin."—From "The Whistler Journal" by E. R. and J. Pennell.

"Lawn Need a Hair Cut?"

Asks Padlox

Goodness, how the grass has grown in the last few days.

Pretty soon you'll have to get out your old trusty mower and give the lawn a hair cut.

Or haven't you got an old trusty—old rusty would be a better name for many.

In either case, it's to your advantage to come in and look over our stock. You'll find plenty that will clip your lawn so that it will look like a carpet of rich velvet.

Then there are grass hooks, grass shears and turf edgers to trim up the raw edges and grass catchers to keep the lawn from looking like a barber shop floor after a Saturday of haircuts.

And probably you'll need to shampoo it often. That means a good lawn hose.

You'll find all these here.

Shur Gro will make the grass grow.

Congress Goes to Aid of Agricultural Industry

List of More Important Measures Written,
Introduced and Passed by Republicans
To Assist Farmers During Crisis

U. S. REPRESENTATIVE J. N. TINSCHER (KAN-SAS), MEMBER HOUSE COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE

Farmers of the United States not only comprise the largest single class of producers but they are the largest single class of consumers of finished products of all kinds, and the largest class of shippers. In view of all this, it is essential, in order that the country as a whole be prosperous, that the farmer as a class be prosperous.

When the Republican Party came into power in March, 1921, the agricultural sections of the country were in the midst of the greatest depression they had ever experienced.

In response to a general demand from the agricultural interests the Republican Congress, on May 27, 1921, 40 days after the session convened, enacted the Emergency, or Farmers' Tariff. This stopped at once the influx of agricultural imports and saved to the American farm producer his home markets.

The best proof that the tariff really protects the American farmer is the fact that since its operation Canada has renewed her efforts to negotiate a reciprocity treaty that will admit her agricultural products into this country free. As a further proof of the effectiveness of this tariff it was renewed November 16, 1921, by the solid vote of the congressmen representing the agricultural States. The enactment of this tariff was opposed by the solid Democratic minority in both House and Senate, with a few notable exceptions.

For more than a quarter of a century there has been a demand from the producers and consumers for control of the packing and allied industries. Responsive to this demand Congress enacted such a law. It cannot be gainsaid that the live-stock industry of the United States has had better treatment from the very day that this law began to operate. This bill was drawn by Republicans, introduced in both branches of Congress by Republicans, and passed by both branches of Congress controlled by Republicans.

For more than 40 years there has been pending before Congress, in one form or another, legislation to control grain exchanges and to stop the manipulation of prices of farm products. Such a law has been enacted by this Republican Congress. Like the packer control law, it was written by Republicans, introduced by Republicans and passed by Republican majorities.

One of the immediate and urgent needs of the farming communities was credit to tide them over their immediate crisis. In order to furnish this credit the Republican Congress amended the War Finance Corporation Act so as to enable that organization to have a revolving fund of $1,000,000, 000 to be used exclusively in making loans to live-stock and agricultural interests. Since that body began functioning under its newly acquired powers it has been loaning money to the agricultural and live-stock interests of the United States at a rate in excess of $1,000,000 a day.

One of the earliest acts of this Congress was the appropriation of $2,000,000 to be used in the purchase of seed for the drought-stricken farmers of the northwest. Since that time legislation and appropriations have been made to assist drought-stricken farmers in other sections of the country, and also to relieve the settlers upon reclamation and irrigation projects.

Still another act of this Congress was the increase of the available capital of the Farm Loan Banks in the sum of $25,000,000, giving the Farm Loan Banks a total revolving fund of $56,000,000. This bill was written by Republicans, introduced by Republicans and passed by Republican majorities in both branches of Congress.

Modern methods in the commercial world have demonstrated the necessity of the farmer's being permitted to sell his crops under a co-operative system, and that this might be done legally and without interference or irritation, the present Congress enacted the Co-operative Marketing Bill. This is another bill written by Republicans, introduced in both branches of Congress by Republicans and passed by Republican majorities.

Honorable Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, truly summed it up when he said:

"Never in the same length of time did Congress give more serious attention to farm needs. All of the legislation is of a constructive character and will be more helpful than is now realized.

OHIO WILL CONTINUE TO PRODUCE GOOD BEEF

Cattle breeders and feeders from all parts of the state gathered at the Experiment station on Cattle Feeders' Day, an army 250 strong. "Shouting the battle-cry of feed 'em," Cattle feeding has long been an important industry in Ohio, and judging from the determination and enthusiasm of the representative feeders present, the state will continue the industry in spite of the keen competition of the Western states.

The "best minds" emphasized the importance of good breeding, using pure bred sires; good feeding, making large use of silage and of good business management in the selection of stock, knowing the market demands.

"Ohio farmers have proved that it is possible to produce baby beefs at a profit on high-priced, hundred-bushel corn land," said Paul Gerlaugh, of the State College of Agriculture, and cited examples where this is being done.

Several adjoining states and 26 Ohio counties were represented at this first Cattle Feeders' meeting.

Director Williams announced that the experiments will be continued and enlarged so as to include more problems, and that Feeders' day will be made an annual event.

NO REST-- NO PEACE

There's no peace and little rest for the one who suffers from a bad back, and distressing urinary disorders. Salem people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Be guided by their experience.

Mrs. P. C. Duncan, 219 East Fourth st., Salem, gave the following statement May 21, 1917: "My health was in a bad way from kidney trouble. My back ached so badly I could hardly do my housework. There was a constant, dull pain across the small of my back and I couldn't turn in bed, my back was so weak and sore I would walk the floor, my back pained me so. My kidneys acted irregularly. When I got up in the morning, I was as tired as when going to bed. It was all I could do to drag around. I was nervous and restless and my head ached. Nothing gave me relief until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Fioding's drug store. I soon felt much better. When my kidneys got out of fix now, Doan's soon put them right."

On June 7, 1921, Mrs. Duncan said: "I know from past experience that Doan's Kidney Pills are good. My health now is all I could wish for." 60c at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

VAST PRESERVE IN ARIZONA PLANNED

CONGRESS IS ASKED TO CREATE PRESIDENT'S FOREST NEAR THE GRAND CANYON.

MOSTLY VIRGIN TIMBERLAND

Project Is Strongly Urged by Emerson Hough and Stephen T. Mather and Has the Support of President Harding.

Washington.—Here is the title of a resolution which has been introduced into the United States senate by Senator Reed Smoot of Utah:

"Joint resolution creating the President's forest within the present Kaibab National forest, Arizona, as a game sanctuary and forest preserve for the benefit and enjoyment of the people."

Recently in Chicago, Emerson Hough addressed the Campfire club in behalf of this plan to establish the President's forest. He told the story of the appealing beauty and wildness of the proposed forest preserve, and entered an appeal in behalf of the reservation of the tract for the uses of the wild life and of course for the uses of the people of the United States.

Stephen T. Mather, director of the national park service of the United States, recently suggested to President Harding the advisability of setting aside the wild forested acres for the uses of the people by executive order. The President was sympathetic with the project but he suggested to Mr. Mather that congressional action probably would have a stronger effect and would make the preserve permanent, because under the law the order of one president may be set aside by the order of a succeeding president. Accordingly the friends of the project went to congress with the matter and Senator Smoot introduced the proper resolution, which has been referred to the committee on public lands and surveys for a report.

Has Three Hundred Thousand Acres.

The forested land which it is proposed to set aside for the uses of the people covers an area of about 300,000 acres, most of it being virgin timberland. Within it there are said to be at least 10,000 deer, of course in a completely wild state. There are no rail facilities within 200 miles and this means that man not yet has had a chance to spoil the land as it came from the hands of nature.

It is said by the proponents of the plan for the setting aside of the President's forest that nature lovers, sportsmen, conservationists of the proper kind, and all persons who have a heart for the great outdoors, are sympathetic with the plan to preserve this natural wonderland for the people.

Senator Smoot has spoken of the forest as "a special reminder of primeval America," and the officials of the Interior department who have visited the tract bear out his words. Recently Senator Smoot said in an interview:

"It is a wonderland. The scenic grandeur cannot be appreciated without being seen. In the approach to the forest the scenery is of the type which one finds in the Grand Canyon National park, which is not far away. As a matter of fact a visitor must pass through the latter park to reach the President's forest from the south."

"The President's forest is typical of the America which our forefathers turned into the industrial and thriving nation of today. It will be a reminder to the generations to come of American land as it first was seen."

Cattle Company Will Help.

In the rooms of the committee on public lands are several photographs showing the beauties of the park and of its approaches. It is said that these photographs will be depended upon largely to win favor for the project when the time comes for committee action. For some years the Grand Canyon Cattle company, a California concern, has grazed and browsed some of its cattle in the forest. It is said that at one time as many as 12,000 animals were feeding in the 300,000-acre tract.

Stephen T. Mather sought out E. J. Marshall, the president of the cattle company, and found that he was entirely in sympathy with the plan for setting the place aside as a game preserve and for the purposes of general public enjoyment.

Writing in behalf of the cattle company, Mr. Marshall said:

"We desire to register our willingness to vacate and abandon the Kaibab forest reservation and the public lands immediately adjoining to the east, recognizing that by so doing the purposes of former President Roosevelt in establishing a game preserve here can be more completely fulfilled and will make the entire region available for public enjoyment."

This willingness of the cattle company and of individuals who have taken up small amounts of land near the forest to relinquish their rights in the case is said by Mr. Mather to clear up virtually one of the last difficulties in the case. He says that the persons who have been using the land make a real sacrifice in this case for the benefit of the public.

Inverted Steam Hammer.

A decidedly novel use of a steam hammer is to make it pull out of the ground steel sheet piling that it had previously driven into it. This was done recently with some piling that had become so tightly frozen in that it could not be pulled out by the derrick alone. The steam hammer was hung upside down from the derrick, and around the hammer four strands of three-quarter inch cable were slung so that they carried below the hammer a device that was bolted through the eye of the piling.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

MASONS WILL NOT ENTER CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE

The formation of a four-team lodge baseball league in Salem seems doubtful at present with the announcement by the Masons that they will be unable to put a team on the field to play a regular schedule.

Manager George Haroff stated that a team will represent the lodge and efforts will be made to arrange a threegame series with the Elks later in the season and that games will be played with Mason teams of surrounding cities but as far as entering the proposed league he said the players were unwilling to bind themselves to a schedule.

The other three teams, the Eagles, Elks and American Legion, are proceeding with their former plans and will endeavor to interest another team in twilight baseball to carry out the four-team league plans.

WILLAMANS TAKE CHARGE AT IOWA STATE COLLEGE

Sam and Frank Willaman, of Ohio State football fame, officially take over the reins as football coaches at Iowa State college this week. They will introduce a brief spring season. Protected negotiations with a number of former Ohio State graduates in the announced effort to introduce the Ohio State system at Iowa State, resulted in the signing of the Willamans. Sam was in his prime as an end, quarterback and halfback about ten years ago. Frank was a plunking fullback in 1917, '19 and '20. The elder Willaman attracted national attention with his teams at East Tech High school in Cleveland during 1919, 1920 and 1921.

Columbiana Lad Expected To Set County Records

In Hawkins of Columbiana High school, Columbiana county, has one athlete who holds a state champion ship.

Last year at Columbus Hawkins broke the state record in the pole vault.

In the dual meet last Saturday between East Palestine and Columbiana, Hawkins scored 27 of Columbus' 31 points. He took first place in the pole vault, running broad jump, high jump and placed in other events.

Hawkins cleared the bar at 5 ft. 1 in. in the high jump without being pushed. In the running broad jump he leaped 28 ft. 6 in. and has a mark of 40 ft. in the shot put and marks the distance over 100 ft.

Hawkins is the man to be feared in the Columbiana county field and track meet Saturday. Given any kind of support by other Columbiana High school athletes, he stands a chance of winning the meet for his school.

URGE WIDER USE OF CABBAGE

Experts of Cornell College of Agriculture Extol Humble Vegetable's Value as Food.

Lovers of cabbage will welcome the pronouncement of the experts at Cornell's College of Agriculture, acclaiming the merits of this succulent vegetable. Cabbage is a subject the discussion of which is not considered good social usage. For some inscrutable reason to acknowledge a fondness for it does not raise one in the estimation of professing epicures, writes H. Young in the Providence Journal.

Cabbage is rich in iron and other mineral salts. It contains a moderate amount of growth-promoting substance and the American people should eat more of it than is their habit, according to the Cornell propagandists. Have we not heard, too, that it contains these precious, if as yet unidentified elements called vitamins? This cabbage report suggests that Americans do not cook it properly, as a rule, and that may explain why appreciation of it is not more general. It should be "plunged into boiling salted water and left there for 20 minutes, no longer, uncovered"—instead of being confined to a tightly-covered receptacle for an indefinite period.

The practice of covering the dish has grown up because of a conventional disinclination to having the house filled with the perfume of boiling cabbage. But to a hungry cabbage lover this fragrance is one of the vegetable's charms. It exercises, as one may say, an agreeable psychological influence. There are, of course, divers ways of serving cabbage, all of them good. And since our tastes are often ruled by the judgment of authority, it may be believed that a widening circle of confessing cabbage eaters will be the consequence of Cornell's approving verdict.

New Colonization Planned.

That the Mexican federal authorities have in view a vast colonization project in Lower California, by which it is hoped to solve the problem created by the great number of unemployed Mexicans at present, was the interesting statement recently made by the secretary of the Interior, General Plutarco Elias Calles. The plan is to allot arable land to each colonist, which will involve irrigation work on a large scale.

The Australian eucalyptus tree sometimes attains a height of 500 feet.

RECIPE FOR GROWING BIG CLEAN POTATOES

"Start with clean seed and clean rich soil and keep clean by spraying and cultivation" is the Experiment Station specialist's formula for growing a big crop of marketable potatoes.

Among the best seed-stock now available in quantities is "certified seed," which may be obtained from through the assistance of the county agent. Seed treatment and spraying are recommended to control insects and diseases. Potatoes should be planted in rows, not in hills, and should be covered with a layer of soil about 4 inches deep. The soil should be rich and liberally fertilized. No manure should be used. Abundance of plant food in a warm soil, which may be obtained from

A thorough preparation of soil by plowing, frequent harrowing before the plants appear, and shallow cultivation afterwards will do much to insure a good crop by keeping down weeds and conserving moisture.

SHIP SUBSIDY IS URGENTLY PUSHED

BILL'S CHANCES INCREASED BY EFFORTS OF THE "LITTLE NAVY" MEN IN CONGRESS.

NAVA' MEN WANT IT PASSED

Merchant Vessels Would Be Most Useful in Event of War—President Harding and Lasker Working Hard for the Measure.

Washington.—If congress in its wisdom, or more likely unwisdom, shall cut the United States navy way below the strength allowed to it by the international conference, the chances for success of the merchant marine subsidy bill are increased. The merchant ships are good for something besides the carrying trade. They can be used for certain purposes in time of war.

If Warren G. Harding and Albert D. Lasker can have their way, and they are working hard to get it, the ship subsidy bill will be passed at the present session of congress. Mr. Lasker has been propagandizing in behalf of the measure, and so has President Harding. "Propagandizing" in this case is an affair of the heart and, as such, probably can be considered without the proprieties.

A good many years of watching things from the galleries of congress and of hearing things in the corridors of congress confessedly make one skeptical of the success at the present session of the effort of the Marlon man and the Chicago man, but there seems to be something more than an even chance that a subsidy for the shipping interests will be provided by the congress of the United States which now is sitting. Next winter is not far off, as time is counted.

Of course a limitation is set upon the building of merchant ships with a view to converting them into warships. However, there is nothing to prevent the merchant fleet when war breaks out from becoming an auxiliary of such warships as there may be afloat. They are indispensable for the purpose of transporting troops, for the carrying of shot, shell and high explosives and other material of warfare.

Navy Men for the Subsidy.

It is apparent from what navy men say that they will rejoice if the ship subsidy bill shall become a law of the land. They never can look with equanimity upon the depletion of the crews of the warships and on the passing of the major men of war, but they can look on it more placidly if they know that in the day of possible war the country's carriers of peace-time products can be used to help out such a navy as Uncle Sam may have.

The United States, in a way, has tried to run its own merchant marine. Everybody knows what a mess has been made of things. Congress is being told that if a subsidy is not granted there will be no merchant marine at all worthy the name, unless actual government ownership comes into operation—and this neither the administration nor congress wants to have come to pass.

There has been some little surprise in Washington because of the seemingly intense interest which the President has taken and is taking in the subsidy proposal. Originally he belonged to the school of politicians and economists which did not believe in subsidies of any kind, although personally he may have held something of the views which he holds today.

Why Harding Wants It.

The fact is that the President at this time believes that if the country does not grant a subsidy we will have no merchant marine worthy of the name; that it will be impossible to open new markets and that other countries which are not hampered by laws regulating the kind of crews that they shall employ, the kind of quarters that they give them and some other things, will continue to have the cream of the trade.

It would be interesting today if one could determine definitely just how much progress has been made in converting individual Middle Westerners and Southerners to the cause of the proposed legislation. Naturally men whose cities and states will profit directly and, so to speak, visually, by a subsidy are in favor of the measure, but there are others from the South and from the Middle West who still seem to hold that subsidy legislation is a scheme of New England and other coastwise states to benefit themselves at the expense of persons who do not live within snelling distance of salt water, or within hearing distance of the sound of the waves on the beach.

Friends of the subsidy legislation in senate and house seem to think that it has more than a fighting chance for passage at the present session of congress. The trouble is that the congressmen want to get away as early as possible, and they know now that they cannot get away to enter the campaign within two months of the time that the leaders promised them should be the case. Therefore, if subsidy does not get into position to receive direct legislative attention until, say July, it probably is all off for this session. However, there is always another day, and that day will be next winter.

STATE PROBLEMS MUST BE MET SQUARELY BY VOTERS SMITH ASSERTS

East Liverpool, May 10.—Endorsing the East Liverpool-Marietta highway project, Harvey C. Smith, now serving his second term as secretary of state for Ohio and candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, last evening addressed a capacity audience at the Chamber of Commerce dinner in the Y. M. C. A. banquet room.

Sec'y Smith explained the functions of the state automobile department, telling that there were 4,200 machines of a popular make in Columbiana county alone, with a total of 8,222 pleasure cars of all kinds and 1,271 trucks registered in this county in 1921.

During last year, he stated, the county had received $42,536.71 as its share of approximately $85,000 paid into the state treasury from the district for tags. Declaring that the Ohio auto department has been conducted during his administration at 50 per cent less cost than any other state, and $200,000 less annually than Illinois, the secretary told the gathering that there were 755,000 cars in the state during 1921, with an expected increase of 100,000 for this year.

Changing his subject to the question of political issues, the speaker declared:

"There are some great problems before the people of Ohio right now, which must be met squarely and there is no use trying to dodge the issue nor to overshadow them with national affairs. The question of taxation is as far from being settled as ever. Complaints come from everywhere of high taxes. Investors hesitate to enter business because of the burden of taxation. Politicians are free to promise to reduce taxes, but seldom make good, and each state administration costs more than the preceding one."

"Taxpayers should remember that taxation is a local question. They should learn that expenditures are made at home; right in their own county, city, town or township, and that a very small per cent of their taxes is used outside their own county. Education, transportation, city improvements, maintenance of local government etc., consume practically all taxes."

After Many Years.

A proposed wing of the American Museum of Natural Sciences in New York, which was commenced nine years ago and abandoned for lack of funds, is about to be started in earnest, the money having been secured for the work. At that time the foundations were laid, but when the expenditure for this had been consumed the work was stopped. The new wing will be used mainly for the housing of the marine exhibit of the institution, which is very extensive, but which has heretofore been boxed up for the lack of space to properly exhibit it.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

A Trying Period Through Which Every Woman Must Pass

Practical Suggestions Given by the Women Whose Letters Follow

Phila., Pa.—"When I was going through the Change of Life I was weak, nervous, dizzy and had headaches. I was troubled in this way for two years and was hardly able to do my work. My friends advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am very sorry that I did not take it sooner. But I have got good results from it and am now able to do my housework most of the time. I recommend your medicine to those who have similar troubles. I do not like publicity, but if it will help other women I will be glad for you to use my letter."—Mrs. FANNIE ROSENSTEIN, 882 N. Holly St., Phila., Pa.

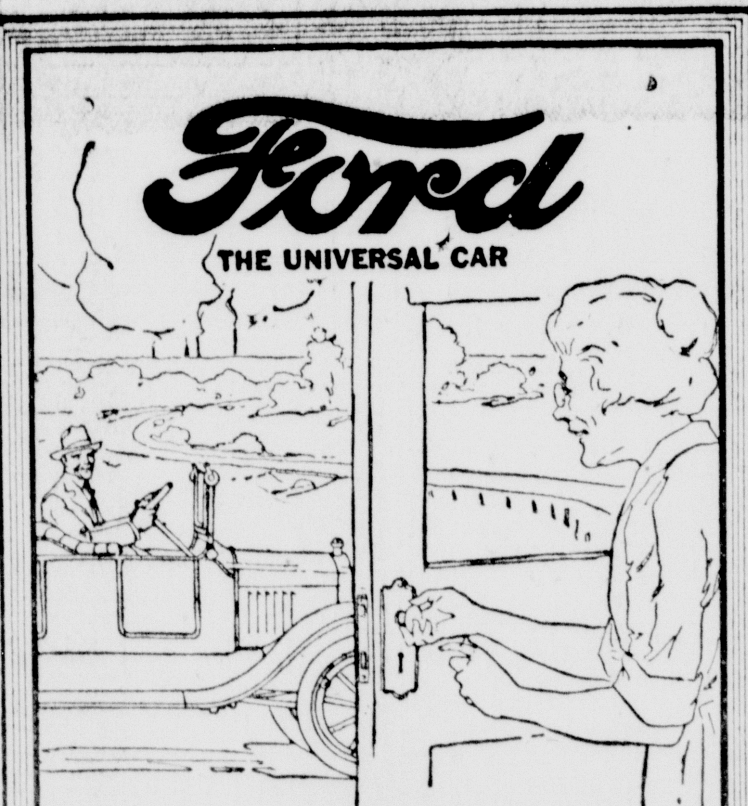

Detroit, Michigan—"During the Change of Life I had a lot of stomach trouble and was bothered a great deal with hot flashes. Sometimes I was not able to do any work at all. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in your little books and took it with very good results. I keep house and am able now to do all my own work. I recommend your medicine and am willing for you to publish my testimonial."—Mrs. J. S. LIVERNOIS, 2051 Junction Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

The critical time of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 50, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia. Heat flashes or waves of heat appear to pass over the body, cause the face to be very red and often bring on headache, dizziness and a sense of suffocation.

Another annoying symptom which comes at this time is an inability to recall names, dates or other small facts. This is liable to make a woman lose confidence in herself. She becomes nervous, avoids meeting strangers and dreads to go out alone.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women at this time. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. Let it help carry you through this time of life. It is a splendid medicine for the middle-aged woman. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

Jiffy bag connection—a turn of the wrist and it's off. Simple spring clip secures other end of bag through which dirt is emptied.

Tension pad of belt absolutely seals this end under clip against any leaking or sifting of even minutest particles.

HANDLE—The handle has a convenient curve to eliminate awkward and tiresome position when used.

Switch in handle for starting and stopping is at finger tips.

Length of cord outside of handle, 18 1/2 feet.

We will be glad to show you the famous three-point demonstration and to name convenient terms, on request.
